A Community Comes Together

Noble Texas Builders, TADCO Roofing & Waterproofing and San Antonio community leaders join the Sisters of Perpetual Adoration to celebrate completed roof repairs as the West Side institution approaches 100 years of service

SAN ANTONIO, Texas — For nearly a century, the Sisters of Perpetual Adoration have served generations of families on San Antonio's West Side through faith, education and community service. After recent storms and longstanding roof issues created the need for significant repairs at their West Travis Street property, Noble Texas Builders, TADCO Roofing & Waterproofing and San Antonio community leaders stepped in to help. As the Sisters prepare to celebrate their 100th anniversary in April 2027, the community will gather to recognize the completed repairs and the partnership that made them possible.

WHY IT MATTERS

The Sisters of Perpetual Adoration have served San Antonio's West Side since 1927 and will celebrate their 100th anniversary in April 2027. Their West Travis Street property is home to the convent, chapel and facilities that support their educational and community ministries. The completed roof repairs represent more than a construction project. They reflect a broader community effort to protect a place that has served generations of West Side families and help the Sisters continue their mission for years to come.
